My Net Worthwhile® is helping independent women organize and direct their financial lives.

Meghan chose to major in finance because it was a completely foreign subject area, but one that is key in making business and life decisions. As an undergrad, she grew to appreciate the opportunities for growth and efficiency that are revealed with good financial analysis. Meghan enjoys working with goal-oriented women and digging into their financial lives to discover what opportunities, benefits, and freedoms their resources can provide.

Meghan joined SignatureFD in 2016 as a Planning Associate and works primarily with SignatureWOMEN on planning topics in divorce and estate planning. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a concentration in Finance from Christopher Newport University.

Meghan is actively involved with the Christopher Newport University Alumni Society and serves as the secretary for the Atlanta chapter.

Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards Inc. owns the certification marks CFP®, CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and CFP® in the U.S., which it awards to individuals who successfully complete CFP Board's initial and ongoing certification requirements.
