My Net Worthwhile is combining my passion of serving others and financial markets to help people achieve and maintain an excellent standard of personal and financial success.

Within SignatureFD's investment team, Thomas Toney contributes to the intricate, often unseen work that keeps portfolios running smoothly. As a Portfolio Analyst, his days are shaped by precision, executing trades, supporting portfolio operations, and helping refine internal processes that serve the broader team's objectives.

Thomas brings a steady presence to the collaborative rhythm of the firm's investment work. He works closely with the investment team and advisors, who guide strategy, ensuring that execution aligns with intent and accuracy underpins every client interaction.

Thomas holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from Yale University and a Master's in Analytical Finance from Emory University's Goizueta Business School. That blend of academic rigor and analytical depth informs how he approaches the work, not with flash but with fluency in systems, structure, and the discipline of consistency.

Thomas' teamwork was developed during his years with the Atlanta United Youth Academy and Yale Men's Soccer team. Outside the office, he continues to play adult league soccer and is drawn to additional composed pursuits, such as cooking, working out, and reading; the kinds of experiences that reward diligence and patience.
