My NET WORTHWHILE™ is bridging the gap between people and technology.

Kristen is dedicated to helping others reclaim time to reinvest in their happiness. And, she passionately believes that the tools and technologies around us can be leveraged to make life more worthwhile. Through exceptional service, constant curiosity and a love for efficiency, Kristen helps clients and colleagues harness new solutions to help drive desired results.

Kristen started her career in the financial services industry in the back office of an independent broker-dealer. The experience gave her understanding in a broad range of areas, such as account processing, compliance, and technology, which she puts to use today at SignatureFD.

She enjoys reading, hiking, scuba-diving and sharpening her skills in conversational Spanish.
